

The Lemur Letter

For Young Readers and The People Who Care About Them

Greetings!

Welcome to the August, 2011 edition of The Lemur Letter, Mister Lemur's brain-boost for young readers and the people who care about them.

On July 20th, 1969, U.S. astronaut Neil Armstrong became the first person to walk on the moon. Mister Lemur's featured story honors the 42nd anniversary of this landing and imagines what he would have thought that day. Can you picture yourself walking on the moon? What would you do and think if you had that chance?

If you enjoyed The Scheming Lemurs' debut single, "Come and Join the Body Band," don't miss their second single, "Nature Police." What climate does the rhythm and melody of Nature Police make you think about? Have you heard music like this before? Where?

Back in school? Perhaps Mister Lemur will be there too! This fall Mister Lemur will be visiting schools throughout California and Arizona. If you are not yet back to school, wrap up the summer by exploring rhyme schemes and ideas on how you can write your own fun and subtly educational rhyming stories in the final installment of the Write Like a Lemur poetry activity .

Finally, get the latest Mister Lemur news and events in the "What's New in Ranomafana" section from Mister Lemur's home in Ranomafana. Here you can see two new book reviews of Mister Lemur's Train of Thought and keep up on the Family Festivals Mister Lemur is attending next weekend. Happy Reading!

Moon View

by Mister Lemur

I dreamed I woke up on the moon;
I can't remember why.
I noticed when you're on the moon
the moon's not in the sky.

It was peaceful looking back at earth,
glowing blue and green and bright.
It's beautiful here on the moon;
the earth is full tonight.

Mister Lemur School Visits

Are you looking for a unique and engaging assembly for your school? Mister Lemur school assemblies feature stories, music, puzzles and writing contests to delight and educate young readers. These assemblies focus on lessons the authors learned about setting goals and making plans while creating Mister Lemur's Train of Thought, and how these skills can be applied to other aspects of life. ## Lemurs, Trees and Books

Mister Lemur loves books. Books are made from trees. Trees are where lemurs live and play - and where they go to escape fossas! Do you see the dilemma? So what is a lemur to do? Mister Lemur has taken a pledge to plant trees for each printing of Mister Lemur books. Trees from the first two printings of Mister Lemur's Train of Thought have been planted in Angels Camp, California. If you like lemurs, books and trees, perhaps your family can plant a tree as well! This will help insure that there will continue to be plenty of trees for everyone: lemurs, book-makers, and curious kids like you. Happy Reading!
